Memorandum on cooperation in the development of further education for older persons

The International Association of Universities of the Third Age (AIUTA) and the European Federation of Older Students in universities (EFOS) have signed this Memorandum on cooperation in the development of further education for older people.

AIUTA and EFOS have a shared interest in seeking opportunities for cooperation whilst retaining their separate identities and recognising their different modes of operation.

AIUTA and EFOS as parties to the Memorandum have agreed to develop collaboration along the following lines:

1. Cooperation in the realisation of international events supporting the development of learning programs, strategies and policies directed towards older people.
2. Cooperation in providing information in connection with the active participation of the public and in ensuring the awareness and active participation of governments and the European Commission in support of the further education of older people.
3. Cooperation in promoting and implementing research programs and projects for older people.
4. Cooperation in the exchange of information and other activities leading to the fulfilment of this Memorandum's mission.

The parties will invite each other to events in order to further their mutual cooperation and to promote the further education of older people.
